

Brown Antique

Smoothfaced/Sandfaced

A traditional natural mixture of rich red, brown and blue multi-coloured tiles that adds character to any building. These varied colours are produced by skilled control of the burning process and cannot be reproduced by artificial means.

Left: Brown Antique tiles have been used for this most unusual private residence. The tiled tower has been finished off with lead.

Bottom left: Brown Antique tiles were chosen for the reroofing of the BBC Training Centre, Wood Norton.

Above: Brown Antique tiles give a traditional appearance to the redevelopment of Shanklin Manor, IOW. Ornamental detailing has been restored with the use of bands of club tiles, bonnet hips and ornamental finials.

Right: Brown Antique Smoothfaced tiles were found to provide a like for like match to the originals on this reroofing project at Mylands School in Essex.
